What is neexee?

Different messages (see below) rotating. Maybe texts over modern/tech/abstract images.

- NOT just another email client. It's the revolution in email. It's brining order into the existing email chaos with inline answers in an evolving conversation. It's having a chat along with your mails. It's having automatic reminders of your unanswered and pending mails. And it's much more

- A platform for writing emails in a collaborative way, that includes mentions, tasks, calendar and many other tools in a revolutionary, real-time, productive, unbelievably easy, unseen way.

- A 21st century mail, at last. See in real-time who's online, who's answering your mail, and chat with the participants of the conversation, keeping the whole chat session as part of the email, even in your old-fashioned clients

Neexee is the Mailvolution
(not just another email client).

No Email Killer is not going to make email disappear. But email is a solution from the 70s that has barely improved lately. Major changes have been to add bold and italics!.

We've been working for years to detect email weaknesses and flaws, and we've come up with new ideas, improvements and solutions. We've built from the ground up a revolutionary tool to make email useful and productive. At last.

Inline answers, automatic follow-up reminders, real-time information on who's answering the mail, read status, A.I powered dashboard, #tags, @mentions, >tasks and +deadlines within the body, a version control system for attachment, and so on.

A state-of-the-art tool that converts emails into collaborative conversations, correctly organized and presented. One single tool that allows real-time chatting with the participants and including the session as part of the email. A tool to automatically remind you of your pending mails, and of the ones that you're waiting for an answer. One tool that takes business communications (both internal and external) to a new level.

One tool to rule them all.

Opinions

- I've tried many email related productivity tools, and they all focus on having your inbox empty. It was about time that someone focused on adding productivity to the way we write and answer emails.

- The web says "Not just another email client". And man is it true! It's really an improvement if you value your time.

- Being able to chat, and including the chat as part of the email is simply brilliant.

- I was reluctant to try, but I was shocked when I did. A surprisingly easy and useful tool. I manage hundreds of mails a day, and the gain in time was clear from the beginning.

- Couldn't be more satisfied. It's brought order to our team and to ou
